East Barnby

On Wednesday, Oak class travelled around the moors to take part in some wonderful outdoor learning.

First on our road trip was Falling Foss. Here we created woodland shelters in groups before 'selling' them to the group. I was blown away by the creativity, design skills and teamwork on display and we had a thoroughly enjoyable and productive morning.

After scenic lunch stop in Goathland, we travelled another 5 minutes down the road to take part in a 'Beck Scramble'. Here we were challenged to enter the freezing cold water, slide down rocks and jump into the beck!

What really stood out was the support that our pupils displayed for one another and the celebrations when somebody really too themselves out of their comfort zone. An incredibly rewarding (and cold!) end to the day. Well done Oak Class!
